

Global Studies & International Affairs

The global studies & international affairs program is an interdisciplinary major designed to prepare students for work and life in an increasingly interconnected world. The program provides a broad-based foundation in world history, culture, politics and economics. Students will gain in-depth understanding of international relations, conflict and change, and a heightened sensitivity to diverse cultures.

Departmental/Program Offerings

- Major: Global Studies and International Affairs
- Minor: Latin American Studies

Sample Courses:

- ECON3115 Economics and the Environment
- HIST2401 Modern China: Continuity and Change
- POLSC2411 The Contemporary Middle East: Challenges and Promise
- SOC2129 Cultural Geography
- SOC3201 Worlds in Motion
- THRS3133 Social Justice and Religious Traditions

Where Can Studying Global Studies & International Affairs Get You?

Emmanuel College believes that the best preparation for success and meaningful careers is a strong liberal arts and sciences education. The global studies & international affairs department at the College reflects that conviction. The program provides students with opportunities – through courses in specialized fields within the discipline, as well as through internships – to develop the skills and knowledge required to move into the world of work. Emmanuel global studies & international affairs majors intern at locations such as World Boston, Travel Illume and the Habitat for Humanity International. Graduates find careers in a variety of areas, including international business, law, media, public health, immigration and the environment. Recent graduates earned acceptance into graduate programs at the University of London and Loyola New Orleans School of Law.

Department Chair:

Petros Vamvakas, Ph.D.
Associate Professor of Political Science
Administration Building, Room 422D
617-975-9366 | vamvakpe@emmanuel.edu

